WHISTLER OLYMPIC PARK

The International Olympic Games coming to Whistler in 2010 has prompted the development of a first-class nordic venue commensurate with the quality of the downhill ski resort. Whistler, which has been winning "best downhill ski resort" awards for years, finally has a top-rate quality attraction for cross-country skiers! At an elevation of only 2,000 feet, the original nordic center at the edge of the old village was always pretty limited in scope and rather uninteresting. The new venue, south of the village and up Callaghan Creek valley, will feature upwards of 50 kilometers of quality tracks when completely completed. In addition to skiing this brand-new nordic system, we will also ski at cypress mountain, sight of many freestyle events and home to another nice system of nordic tracks. Cypress is a much older area with a lot of heritage and tradition that olympic officials are hoping to preserve as they develop and improve it for the games. The first skiers found their way to these "North Shore" mountains in the 1920s. These EARLY ski enthusiasts would take a ferry across Burrard Inlet and hike up the mountains to log cabins, many of which can still be found on Hollyburn Mountain. The area's first ski run now serves as a cross-country and snowshoe area. Hollyburn Lodge was built in these early years, and is still surviving as a modern day warming hut and snack bar. Provided: lodging, transit, maps. Dates 2/28-3/3 Cost $462
